Mental health, social inclusion and the development of vocational services in the NHS – what can be learnt?"
Bertram. Mental health review journal 2019;24(2):133-143.
SLAM author Mark Bertram here examines how NHS vocational services can help people achieve their goals when service developments are grounded in what service users say actually helps them. Mark has recently been chosen as an Outstanding Reviewer for Mental Health Review Journal in the 2019 Emerald Literati Awards. Well done Mark!

Guidelines

The following new guidance has recently been published:

Professionalism and Cultural Transformation (PACT) toolkit.
NHS Employers;2019.
This toolkit aims to educate and empower staff to improve professionalism within their workplace, helping organisations move towards making the NHS the best place to work. The toolkit is based on tried and tested work undertaken by Hull University Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust and is designed to help staff embed the PACT programme in their organisation. It contains practical information, advice and solutions to equip staff to deal with unprofessional attitudes and behaviours in the workplace.]

Reports

The following report(s) may be of interest:

How doctors in leadership roles establish and maintain a positive patient-centred culture.
General Medical Council (GMC); 2019.
This report finds that positively-engaged leaders from diverse backgrounds are key to transforming organisational cultures. However, they are often unprepared and unsupported for the challenges of leadership during the early stages of their management careers. The report makes the case for support for senior healthcare leaders to help them overcome challenges that can impact on patient care.
